From the Pastor

Welcome to the GSU Football Team

Coach Tyson Summers and the members of the Georgia Southern football program are our special guests at our 11:00am worship service. These players and staff members have been busy already preparing for the upcoming season, and we are glad for this opportunity to host them at First Baptist Statesboro. Many of us will be in Paulson Stadium this fall cheering them along, but their visit today enables us to communicate our love and care for them in a different way. We pray God's blessings in the lives of these players and coaching staff, and we stand ready to encourage them in the coming days. Go Eagles!

Parenting Workshop - August 16

Remember that we are hosting a much-anticipated Parenting Workshop on Wednesday, August 16, with Steve Parr, author of Why They Stay. After an extensive research and survey process, Steve identified some trends as to why some young adults stay in church when entering adulthood and why some don't. Some of the reasons he identified are anchored in the childhood experiences where parents can have remarkable influence.

We will gather in the Perry Fellowship Hall that night 6:30 - 7:15pm to hear how parents and grandparents can increase the likelihood that their children will be strong in their faith for years to come. There is no cost for this workshop, and it is an excellent opportunity to invite friends and guests to learn why some kids stay in church and why some don't.

"Fixer Upper" Family Message Series

Next Sunday, August 6, I begin a new series of messages focused on family, home, and marriage, which I've entitled "Fixer Upper." God gives clear guidance about building a healthy family, and I look forward to exploring the biblical tools that apply to all of our family relationships. Invite a guest to share this journey with us as we discover God's marvelous design and masterplan for your home and mine.
